Business Allsorts uses “cookies” and other tracking technologies

A “cookie” is a file that our web server may send to your computer when you access this website. This file is then stored on your computer. Business Allsorts may use cookies and certain other passive information collection technologies to make your use of this website easier by allowing Business Allsorts to provide better service, customise websites based on consumer preferences, compile statistics, analyse trends, and otherwise administer and improve this website. Certain features of our website(s) may not work without use of passive information collection technologies.

Our website uses “session” cookies: Session cookies are temporary bits of information that are erased once you exit your web browser window or otherwise turn your computer off. Session cookies are used, for example, to improve navigation on this site, and to collect aggregated statistical information.

Business Allsorts may use “persistent” cookies: Persistent cookies are more permanent bits of information that are placed on the hard drive of your computer and stay there for up to 26 months unless you delete the cookie. Persistent cookies store information on your computer for a number of purposes, such as helping to determine what areas of the website visitors find most valuable, and customising the website based on your preferences on an ongoing basis. The Business Allsorts server only knows that an unidentified visitor with your cookies has returned to the website and not any personally identifiable information.

Business Allsorts may use “web beacons” (also known as internet tags, single-pixel GIFs, clear GIFs, anonymous identifiers and invisible GIFs): A web beacon is a tiny graphic on a web page or in an email message that is used to track pages viewed or messages opened. Web beacons tell the website server information such as the IP address and browser type related to the visitor’s computer. Web beacons may be placed on online advertisements that bring people to our website(s) and on different pages of the website. Web beacons provide us with information on how many times a page is opened and which information is consulted. Business Allsorts uses both First Party and Third Party web beacons and cookies. Third Party web beacons and cookies are used for the purpose of marketing this website to people that may find benefit from the services included on the website.
